

AccessAcademy's RapidLearn™ Service Gathers Momentum

The number of clients using our RapidLearn™ Service is growing faster than predicted as forward thinking businesses realise the value the service can bring to their organisation. This last month has seen a dramatic increase in the number of clients requesting our RapidLearn™ service to convert existing paper based training material to online training modules.

A number of clients who hadn't considered online learning or were unsure whether it was right for their business began with a Rapidlearn pilot module to test how it would work within their organisation. This low risk/low investment route gave them the opportunity to test the concept and get feedback from users. A 100% of all clients who have chosen this route have now come back to us requesting further modules to be converted they have been so delighted with the results. Below are examples of the feedback we have had from our RapidLearn™ clients.

Paul Chamberlain, Technical Director. Solgar Vitamins and Herb, UK.

"We wanted to create a web-based tool to deliver an existing paper-based correspondence training course to our customers around the UK. The team at Access Academy took the time to understand our specific needs and requirements and delivered a working prototype of our training course based on their RapidLearn software. The service has been fast and efficient, but most importantly the solution provided fits in with our requirements perfectly. I am looking forward to working with Access Academy on the full version of our training course".

Richard Wade, IT Trainer, HR Learning and Development, Atisreal Limited

"I have found Access Academy to be excellent partners to work with in building effective and stimulating elearning solutions and would highly recommend them to others"

If you would like the opportunity to run a free RapidLearn™ pilot in your organisation why don't you enter our free prize draw (see details below) or if you just want to find out how RapidLearn™ could help your organisation please call our Rapidlearn™ specialist Odelia Zucker on 0845 8801818.

